

I am strongly against our broadcast media being in the hands of a few big players. It stifles dissent. It is bad for a free democracy.

Sinclair Broadcasting's decision to broadcast an anti-Kerry documentary on its affiliate stations just before the election is a blatant example of the dangers of media consolidation. I am against any large corporate big weight swaying public opinion.